

David Offenbacher
3/26/15
WIA-01

I chose to build this site as a prototype for my mother's future web page; she just graduated as a nutritional health coach, and is wanting me to get her up and running with a web page for her company, and I thought this would be a fun project. I have more ideas for the site but this was a quick layout I did for this project.

For the gallery I used on the home page and gallery page I used prettyPhoto Lightbox Plugin. I used photos that my mother or I took over the last year. These photos are all on her Facebook page (<https://www.facebook.com/franbatzer>).

The HTML5 Video tag I used on the Gallery page. It is a video I took of my mother juicing green grass. I had to trim the video down so that the file size was under 100mb that way it would upload to Full Sail and GitHub.

My 2 HTML5 canvas tags are on the contact page, I used it to upload images using ctx.drawImage, I got online from free sites.
(https://www.iconfinder.com/icons/370078/communication_email_envelope_letter_mail_message_sms_icon#size=128 , <http://becuo.com/blue-phone-icon>).

I used a Google maps API plugin on my home page to show where my Mother is located. I was having issues getting it to work but found this site useful getting it to work (http://www.w3schools.com/googleapi/tryit.asp?filename=tryhtml_map_first).